VALUABLE REAL ESTATE,

LOCATED IN AND ADJOINING THE TOWN OF WARRENTON, N. C.

FOR SALE.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation, for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, E. E. Parham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. The premises contain about SIXTY ACRES of Land a material portion of which is within the Corporation. This, with all or a part of the furniture, &c., belonging to the same, can be purchased with the land and buildings. This property will be offered privately for sale until Wednesday the 3rd day October next, and, if not then sold, will be on that day sold, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

The Committee are fully authorized to sell, and would say that a rare chance is offered, to any party wishing to purchase such property, as time sufficient, if required, will be given. Possession given immediately.

Any person or party wishing to examine the property will be shown it by, E. E. Parham, the present occupant, or by any one or more of the Committee.

Meeting in Wake.

We are authorized to state that a meeting of the citizens of Wake County will be held at the Court House, in this city, on Tuesday next, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of making arrangements to secure representation from this Congressional District in the approaching National Convention at Philadelphia.

The Stay Law.

We publish, to-day, by request, the speech of B. F. Moore, Esq., of this City, on the stay law, delivered in the late State Convention. Of the necessity and utility of a stay law there are various opinions. All stay laws, in principle, are adverse to the organic law of the land, and, at ordinary times, are injurious. No one doubts that the stay law passed by the Legislature during the war proved to be a serious evil, yet the object was a humane one. The termination of the war not only left our people and the State more deeply in debt than at any other period, but left them without the means to pay. Much of the debt, which was contracted before and during the war, was contracted, and the expectation to pay was based, upon slave property. All this, amounting to about $200,000,000, with all other evidences of property, except the real estate of the people, has been swept away.

The personal indebtedness of the people of North Carolina has been variously estimated at from fifteen to thirty millions of dollars. Add to this fourteen or fifteen millions of State debt, besides the annual Federal tax of, say, $1,500,000, with a State and county tax amounting to at least $600,000 annually, not including any tax for common school purposes, or for meeting the interest of the State public debt, and the reader will begin to form some idea of the present pecuniary condition of the people of North Carolina. The interest annually accruing upon the personal debt of the people, estimating it only at $20,000,000, and the interest on the State debt, added to the present Federal and State taxes, would require the annual sum to meet it of $5,200,000.

With such, at least, proximate showing, of the pecuniary condition of the people, it was a matter of the highest importance, in view of the general destitution of money in the State or the means of obtaining it, that something should be done, to prevent or delay the collection of debts for a time, until the people could recuperate. For it cannot be doubted, that the forced collection of debts due by the people, or the collection of a sufficient tax to meet promptly the State's indebtedness, would have compelled the exposure to public sale of a good portion of the real estate of the people, without a market and without money. The real estate of the people of North Carolina, at ordinary times, would be worth $150,000,000, but to force it into the market, it would bring a price inadequate at the present or any short time, to pay the personal and State indebtedness.

If this be anything near the truth, and it, under any circumstances, a stay law is admissible at all, this was certainly the time for the adoption of one. Whether the stay law passed by the Convention, is what is needed, or whether its provisions will certainly be advantageous in the future, we cannot determine. Its ill or beneficial effects must be determined and can only be accurately determined by actual experience. The common sentiment is, that it is the best which has been adopted heretofore. Yet we hear of strong opposition to it in some quarters.

The Winston Sentinel warmly advocates it.—We believe that it should be fully tested and that any attempt to declare it unconstitutional by the Courts would produce the most serious results, yet we most deeply regret the hasty conclusions of the Winston Sentinel. There may be a necessity, an absolute necessity for the stay law among us, and we are confident the Supreme Court is not disposed to seek opportunities to express an opinion to the injury and detriment of the people, but when that Court, in the exercise of its legislative functions and sworn duty, shall declare its opinions in due form of law, we shall unhesitatingly support it to the last extremity, even though its decision might deprive us of the last cent. Hence we deprecate most sincerely the declaration of our cotemporary, that if the Supreme Court were to decide adversely to the stay law, that it would go for the abolition of the Court.

The Civil Courts.

Gov. Worth, some days ago, called the attention of Gen. Robinson, in charge of the military command of North Carolina, and Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, to the fact that the laws of North Carolina opened the Civil Courts to all citizens of the United States, without regard to color, upon equal terms, and that hence there no longer existed the necesity for the adjudication of matters in which colored persons were concerned by the Bureau or the military authorities.

Gen. Robinson, having been put in possession of the acts of the Convention and Legislature upon the subject, has issued an order transferring the jurisdiction of all cases in which colored persons are concerned to the Civil Courts, "except in cases of claims for wages due under contracts approved or witnessed by officers or agents of the Bureau, which, not admitting of delay, will be adjudicated as heretofore."

The absence of Gov. Worth from the city, for recreation and relief from business for a few days, delays the official announcement of the order to the people of the State, by the Governor.

The exception made by Gen. Robinson, and the recent order by Gen. Grant, throw impediments in the way of that full operation of our laws over our whole people, which is desirable; an impediment to be deprecated, because it argues that want of confidence in the integrity and the spirit of justice and humanity of our people, which is not justified by any facts which have come to our knowledge. The entire history of the judicial investigations and jury trials of North Carolina, from the beginning of our existence as a State to the present, afford the most incontestible evidence of the punctilious regard of our people for the law and for the principles of justice. Nothing can alienate the white people of the South from the colored race among whom they have been born and raised, but the utter ignoring, on the part of the blacks, of their former friendly and confiding relations and the exhibition of a temper adverse to the whites. How could there be the slightest danger of this, but for the false teachings and erroneous and adverse influences which have been brought to bear upon them?

We are glad, however, at this indication on the part of the Government to relax, little by little, the claims of military authority over the civil, which gives us encouragement to hope that the day will come when civil law shall once more be fully in the ascendant in the land. The inconveniences which may arise to our own people from the claims of military authority may, and ought to be, borne with patience under the circumstances, in the confident hope of the ultimate and speedy removal of every obstacle to the operation of civil law. Every citizen should, therefore, give aid and support to the powers that be," of whatever kind, by carefully contributing in every way to the maintenance of order, harmony and law, among us.

THE NOMINATION of Alex. W. Randall, as Postmaster General, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Dennison, was sent into the Senate on Saturday. Mr. Dennison, in his letter of resignation to the President, says:

"In thus withdrawing from your cabinet, it is proper to say, that I do so chiefly because of the difference of opinion between us in regard to the proposed amendment of the Constitution which I approve, and the movement for the Philadelphia Convention to which I am opposed. My confidence in the patriotism of the Union Republican party, and my conviction that upon their permanent control of the Government depend in a large measure the peace and happiness of the country, will not permit of my holding any equivocal attitude in respect to it. Assuring you of my personal regard and appreciation of the uniform courtesy I have received from you, I am, &c."

To this the President briefly responds, accepting the resignation, and stating that he fully appreciates the kind assurance of personal regard.

THOSE WHO advocate the clause of the Constitutional amendment disfranchising all men in the South who, at any time in the past, have taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and who afterwards participated in the "rebellion," are themselves guilty of the perjury which they attribute to others. That Constitution expressly declares that Congress shall neither pass a bill of attainder nor an ex post facto law; and yet this clause operates as both.

But the Radical policy must be carried, if the Constitution perish in the struggle. The power of the party must be preserval, though Republican institutions disappear forever!

THE unauthorized and unconstitutional arrest of a single man (Callender) in the days of the elder Adams, under the Alien and Sedition laws, was sufficient to break down his administration and defeat him for a second Presidential term. Now-a-days, such things pass over us like a summer's cloud, without "exciting our special wonder." Who will say, after reading Gen. Grant's latest order, and the exclamations of delight with which it is greeted by portions of the Northern press, that the rights of "personal liberty" have advanced with the stride of years, the supposed progress of civilization, and the growth of the Republic? Who will not say that the word Republic is a misnomer, if such things are to be persisted in?

SPEECH OF B. F. MOORE, ESQ.,

In Convention, on the Ordinance "to Change the Jurisdiction of the Courts, and the Rules of Pleading therein."

The stay law being under consideration, and the third section read, Mr. Moore, of Wake, addressed the Convention:

MR. PRESIDENT: The section just read offers me full opportunity to express my views upon the entire subject.

The ordinance is entitled "An ordinance to change the jurisdiction of the Courts, and the rules of pleading therein." The title announces nothing but ordinary and legitimate purposes of legislation.

It looks as fair as the title of the act to which, in the midst of our revolutionary struggle, our noble and honest ancestors gave the name of "An act for establishing courts of law and regulating the proceedings therein."

One would suppose, from their titles, that the object of both was the same. No two things, however, could be more dissimilar than the objects intended to be accomplished. The court law of the revolution was an honest and efficient enactment to provide and open courts for the full and expeditious administration of the law, and for the enforcement and protection of rights and remedies guaranteed for the security of person and property.

Such it was in title, and such in fact it has proved to be. And from its passage to an evil hour, in 1861, it has run the even and undisturbed tenor of its way, with but one small interruption, (in 1812,) which was early removed. The citizens have had, at all times, speedy and impartial justice, and have been required to observe the faith of their engagements—and their honesty became proverbial. The object of the ordinance is to shut the courts of justice by crowding the cases, small and great, into a Superior Court, held open but once a year; and, by delays of pleading, to postpone for years the trial of the plainest cases; and, even after judgment is rendered, to defer for another series of years the collection of the debt. It is palpable, on the face of the ordinance, that the change of jurisdiction, announced in the title and provided in the enactment, is not intended to advance or improve the administration of justice, but is designed, of fixed purpose, to hinder and delay it. It is equally manifest that a like fixed purpose provides for changing "the rules of pleading;" and that these rules are changed, not to supply any existing defects in the rules, but for the mere purpose of delaying the trial, and enabling the violator of his contract to avoid its fulfillment.

While the title proclaims the purpose of mere ordinary constitutional legislation, the avowed object is, under this pretext, to grossly violate the Constitution of our country, which prohibits any State from passing "a law impairing the obligation of contracts." In our State the time has been, when, if legislation might be suspected of contravening the Federal Constitution, the legislator did not feel at liberty to resort to a stratagem to effect his forbidden purpose. Thus, the act of 1812, declared void by the Supreme Court because it impaired the obligation of contracts, was candidly entitled "An act to suspend executions for a limited time."

The title was an epitome of the purpose of the act.

If the title of this ordinance had as candidly reflected the motive of its provisions as did the act of 1812, it would be entitled "An ordinance to hinder and delay the collection of debts."

Mr. President: There is not, I believe, a delegate who would vote for it, if it were thus entitled; and yet we all know, that this title would but candidly proclaim its true purpose; and that, as entitled now, it does not express it. It is true that the ordinance does change "the jurisdiction of the courts and the rules of pleading,"—but the change, in these particulars, is not the purpose for which it was introduced.—The change is but the instrument to effect the object, which is to hinder and delay the creditor and impair the obligation of his contracts. The accomplishment of this forbidden and unconstitutional purpose is the end in view, and the instrument is a mere pretence, a device,—a stratagem, a screen,—which the legislator uses to hide from the courts the unlawfulness of the act. He asserts, in the outset, that it is competent for the law-maker to provide such courts as he may deem proper, to assign them their jurisdiction, and prescribe rules for pleadings therein.

No one doubts the existence of the power to do these things. It must exist, wherever the law is administered. But let us never forget, that the power exists only to advance and improve the administration of justice; to protect and enforce the legal rights of every man, rich or poor; and that it does not exist for the purpose of delaying justice and enabling men to evade the obligation of their contracts. Whatever might be the power of this convention, if not restrained by the constitution of the country, we cannot now use means, which are lawful for lawful purposes, to overthrow any part of that instrument: If we cannot attack it boldly with a candid avowal of our purpose, we cannot attack it insidiously by strategem and concealment of the purpose. Those, who resort to the latter mode, are more dangerous to liberty than open and defiant enemies, and are more to be dreaded by its true guardians.

Mr. President: For years it has been a subject of boast and emulation, among certain persons, who could draw the law which could most effectually conceal from judicial penetration the legislative purpose to impair the obligation of contracts; and we have been assured, by some, that this ordinance stands behind an impenetrable shield. I know now how others might feel in accomplishing such a work. For myself I could have only that satisfaction, which an honest man may be allowed to enjoy after having wilfully disobeyed the sacred obligation to support the Constitution of his country.

Sir, our State government is divided into three great departments,—the Legislative, the Executive and the Judicial. The independence and integrity of each is essential to the preservation of our liberties. Each of them stands in close connection with the others. In the making of laws the Legislature is placed under restraints and injunctions, which they are sworn not to transcend. The Executive, in his department, is equally bound by his obligation. And the judge is called upon to expound the laws which may be enacted by the Legislature. Both of these departments act under the same fixed guides, the constitutions of the country. If the legislator transcend his powers, it is the duty of the Judge to declare void the unlawful legislation. In this State the legislative department has ever yielded with cheerfulness, to the exercise of this salutary power. Between them there ought always to prevail the most candid relations. And, inasmuch as, by the fundamental law of the land, it is the high duty of the legislature to submit the constitutionality of all their acts to the judgment of the courts, it is a foremost part of that duty to enact their laws in such a way as that their character may be known as fully by the court, as they were by the law maker, and that the motive and intent may always be visible to the judge. So that if, with one intent, the act would be constitutional, and, with another intent, it would be otherwise, the judge may be able to ascertain the true intent, and maintain, in its vigor, the fundamental law of the land.

Now, sir, with these views, I can imagine few acts of political agency which can deserve more of public condemnation than that of a legislative body engaged in clothing a forbidden act in a dress of legal panoply, which may defy judicial penetration. A legislature engaged in deceiving the judiciary with false pretences is a spectacle which cannot be tolerated by the public mind, without overthrowing our regard for Constitutional government. Sir, can a legislator do this without violating his obligation to support the Constitution of the United States?

We are informed by cases adjudged in the Supreme Court of the United States, when its Marshall, its Story and its Taney adorned the bench, "that every law which postpones or accelerates the period of performance, which a contract prescribes, however minute, impairs the obligation of a contract." And by the pure and eminent Madison, when advocating in the Federalist the inhibitory clause of the Federal Constitution, (even while the sufferings of the revolution were severely felt over the entire land,) that "laws impairing the obligation of contracts are contrary to the first principles of the social compact, and to every principle of sound legislation."

In one respect the judge may occupy a position different from that of a legislator, in regard to this provision of the constitution. The courts, we all know, are inclined to give to every act of legislation the most favorable construction; and, where a lawful purpose can be assigned, they will not declare the existence of one that is unlawful. It is possible that an act passed for one purpose may be constitutional, and an act in the same words, passed for another purpose, may violate the constitution. Thus, if it were constitutional for Congress to raise revenue, but otherwise to protect manufactories from competition, the same act for the former purpose would be upheld, and for the latter, declared void. And the title to the one or the other would be a sufficient key to open the legislative intent.

Now if Congress, with intent to protect manufactures from competition, should pass a bill laying protective duties, and entitle the law "an act to raise revenue," they would, in my opinion, grossly violate the Constitution, and cheat the court, by false pretences. The court, however, and the legislator would incur very different responsibilities—the court would simply do its duty and, would not violate the Constitution; but the legislator would fail in his duty, and violate the Constitution. If, therefore, the true purpose of the ordinance is to improve the administration of the law, leaving the delays of proceedings as mere secondary incidents, and the legislator shall support it upon this ground, he will be excused from the consequences: but if his purpose in supporting it be to allow persons to postpone the fulfillment of these contracts, then, in my judgment, he cannot escape the charge of violating the Constitution; and is the more inexcusable for his employing an uncandid artifice to effect his purpose.

In speaking thus of the duty of a legislator, let no one suppose that I concede this ordinacne proof against judicial attack.

I turn now from considering the Constitutional question, to the policy of the law. Here the prospect of a gloomy future lies before us.—Without a stay law, delegates say that the people will become bankrupt, and be driven from their homes by the arm of the law. They color the picture of distress with exaggerations, till they alarm themselves and everybody who hears them. They abandon themselves to the fright of the moment, and neither hear reason nor consult the lessons of the past. They forget the rights of the creditor; and sacrifice him without a feeling, even, of regret. The orphan, whose whole estate may be in a rich man's bond; the mechanic and humble laborer, whose sweat may have been poured out on the dwellings and fields of the wealthy, are all commanded to put their debts away for years.

Sir, under what clause of the Constitution shall we find a greater protection provided for one kind of property, than for another? What law of morals decides, that I am not as much entitled to the price of the land I have sold, as the purchaser is to hold the land unpaid for?—If I shall have lost the possession of my horse by a wrong-doer, who never made me a promise to pay for it, the ordinance allows me to pursue him without quarter; but if I shall have let my horse go upon the solemn and sealed promise of a buyer, I am required to reward his broken promise by waiting until he is willing to pay; the open wrong is vindicated—the covert one is defended and protected!

The alarm is unnecessary, and the remedy proposed for it is worse far, than the disease.—The kindness of men towards each other, in the hour of a common distress, will afford more relief than any stay law. The very existence of it creates alarm, produces a spirit of defiance on the part of the debtor, and creates distrust in the creditor. Be assured, sir, that a flood of suits will follow the passage of the law and a general panic will ensue in the race of creditors after debtors. The ordinance, so far from being the debtor's friend, will be his worst foe.

The power to prefer one creditor over another by deed of trust is a better guard against destruction than a stay law.

The law invites those who are able to pay to disregard their obligations, and loosens all the foundations of faith between man and man.

In whatever degree law withdraws its remedies for the enforcement of contracts, to that extent, soon, will the moral sense cease to urge the debtor to fulfil them. Such a law will be regarded as the great expositor of public sentiment, and even those who are well able to pay, will shelter themselves under a protection avowedly created, only for the destitute and needy. Honesty will no longer be a public virtue, and it will soon cease to be a private one.

I feel amazed to see with what indifference we throw away the conclusive lessons of history. The mere introduction itself of the inhibitory clause into a document, so solemn and sacred as the constitution of the country, should assure us of its wisdom, and command our respect and obedience; but when we open the pages of history, cotemporaneous with the period which intervened between the close of the revolution and the formation of the federal constitution, we are presented in full with the reasons which gave birth to the mandate that "no State shall pass a law impairing the obligation of contracts."

The termination of the revolutionary struggle found the people of the States without money and much indebted to each other. That short sighted policy which usually prevails in panics, adopted the quackery of temporary expedients, known then, as now, by the names of stay laws—valuation laws—and laws allowing tenders of property in discharge of debts. In some of the States these shifts to postpone the day of payment were resorted to, one after another; but the affliction sought to be remedied, grew worse as the acts of financial quackery were multiplied, and the people, among whom the expedients were adopted, were soon found to be in a far worse condition than at the outset.

Instructed by the results of these experiments, every step of which the framers of the constitution had witnessed, they did not hesitate to apply the true remedy for all cases which might thereafter arise. The statesmen who set this barrier against the power of the States to pass such a law as this ordinance, were, by universal concession, unsurpassed in purity and intelligence. With Washington at their head, and with Madison and Hamilton for their counsellors, none can doubt their devotion to the best interests of the people or the profound wisdom and sagacity of their work. And historians inform us that the vivifying influences of an immediate repeal of all stay laws, were soon felt and seen throughout the land.

The pages of an eminent historian of one of the States, which adopted the system of relieving by stay laws, after the peace of 1783, are but the faithful reflex of the experience of all the other States.

Dr. Ramsey, speaking of the six laws passed in as many years by the Legislature of South Carolina, some of which contained similar provisions with this law, says—"the effects of these laws interfering between debtors and creditors were extensive; they destroyed public credit and confidence between man and man, injured the morals of the people, and in many instances, ensured and aggravated the final ruin of the unfortunate debtors for whose temporary relief they were brought forward. The procrastination of payment abated exertions to meet it with promptitude. In the mean-time interest was accumulating and the expenses of suits multiplied by the number of the instalments."

In the midst of these experiments for relief by stay laws, the federal Constitution was adopted, and the same historian portrays the results of the prohibitory clause. "Public credit was reanimated—the owners of property and holders of money freely parted with both, well knowing that no future law could impair the obligation of contracts." North-Carolina, to her great praise, had not only avoided this species of legislation, but had thrown open all her Courts, and provided for a speedy administration of justice. She received ever afterwards the proud appellation of "the honest old North State." Let those beware, who would rob her of the priceless honor which she has so worthily won for nearly a century.

Mr. President, little did the distinguished and candid historian of South-Carolina think, when he was joyfully announcing that no future law could impair the obligation of contracts, that a State, which, like North-Carolina, had passed through the trying times that followed on the heels of the revolution and had won a bright name for her integrity, would, to-day, be engaged in impairing the obligations of contracts under the specious and false pretext of changing the jurisdiction of the Courts, and the rules of pleading therein.

PROCLAMATION

TO THE PEOPLE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

In obedience to an Ordinance of the State Convention, ratified the 25th. day of June, 1866, entitled "An Ordinance submitting to the qualified voters of the State the ratification or rejection of the Constitution adopted by the Convention," I, JONATHAN WORTH, Governor of North Carolina, hereby give notice that on THURSDAY, the SECOND day of AUGUST next, polls will be opened by the Sheriffs of the respective Counties, and kept open for three successive days, at the several election precincts in each and every County in the State, under the same rules and regulations as now exist for the election of members of the General Assembly; at which election all persons qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, may vote for or against the ratification of the same; those who wish a ratification of the Constitution voting, with a written or printed ticket, "RATIFICATION,"—those, of a contrary opinion, voting, with a written or printed ticket, "REJECTION." Sheriffs will observe the provisions of the Ordinance as to the duties thereby imposed.

L. S. In witness whereof His Excellency, JONATHAN WORTH, Governor of said State, has hereto set his hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed.

Done at the City of Raleigh, this the 2nd. day of July, A. D. 1866.

JONATHAN WORTH.

By the Governor:
WM. H. BAGLEY,
Private Secretary.

THE SENTINEL.

Monday Evening, July 16, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—See the important advertisement of Thos. A. Donoho, Clerk and Master in Equity for Caswell County. Joseph J. Lawson, Esq., having been appointed Commissioner, the Bank of Yanceyville will proceed "to close its business," in accordance with the act of the late Legislature.

The 49th term of St. Mary's School, in this City, will open on the 18th.

See card of N. W. Notling, General Commission Merchant, Richmond, Va. His list of references is as good as can be given.

We commend to special attention the announcement of the Southern Fertilizing Co., Richmond, Va. It is a home institution which merits the patronage of our agricultural community. The advertisement speaks for itself, and presents advantages which our farmers and planters will doubtless properly appreciate.

O. G. Parsley & Co., Wilmington, are agents for the Albertson & Douglass Machine Co., and are prepared to furnish a superior article of Cotton Gins.

LECTURE ON "THE DEVIL."—We are pleased to be able to announce that S. S. Bryant, Esq., of Danville, Va., will deliver his Lecture on "the Devil" in this City, on Thursday night next. The place of delivery will be published in due time.

Mr. Bryant is a gentleman of unquestioned genius and of rare oratorical power. His lecture, wherever delivered, has been spoken of as an intellectual effort of uncommon merit, abounding in novel and unique theories and passages of great eloquence. We promise to all who may attend a rich "feast of reason."

The object of the Lecture is a benevolent one, —being for the relief of some worthy families in Danville, the heads of which were slain in the recent war.

The price of admission is only fifty cents,—a very small sum to pay for an intellectual treat and the furtherance of a most commendable charity.

MUSICAL TREAT.—We understand that the good people of our city are to have a rare treat. The ladies of the Memorial Association of Wake County have invited Mr. L. P. Wheat, the Southern Pianist, to give a concert for the benefit of the Association.

Mr. Wheat is a native of this State and the youngest son of Dr. Wheat, formerly a Professor in the University of N. C. As a child, Mr. Wheat evinced a wounderful talent for music, playing the most difficult pieces by ear. Eight years ago Mr. Wheat went to Europe to complete his musical education, which had been commenced under the best Professors of music this country afforded. In the last eighteen months he has given concerts before several of the crowned heads of Europe. He also gave a concert in Paris for the benefit of Southern sufferers there, and one in London for the benefit of the Confederate soldiers in prison. Everywhere he drew immense audiences and more than pleased wherever he performed. He combines the depth and soul of Beethoven, the rare conceptions of Mozart and the brilliant execution of Listz and Thalberg. Altho' so young, he has taken his place among the first artistes of the age. He will be assisted by the best amateur singers of this City.

The Concert will take place the last of this week or the first of next. Let all go and enjoy a treat rarely offered in this City. B.

NORTH CAROLINA DEAD IN GEORGIA.—The Rome (Geo.) Courier says that neat head-boards have been provided for all the Confederate soldiers' graves in and around that place. The following is a list of the North Carolina soldiers buried there:

H. M. Coffey, co. A, 39th regt.
A. J. Jones, co. D, 39th regt.
D. Coffman, co. C, 39th regt.
N. H. Sanders, co. B, 39th regt.
Jno. Wilson, 29th regt.
R. T. Baxter, co. E, 18th regt.
W. J. Stiles, co. A, 39th regt.
David Phillips, co. E, 58th regt.

MURDER IN JOHNSTON CO.—A correspondent of the Wilmington Journal states that Mr. Jas. H. Harrison, who kept a mill about five miles below Smithfield, towards Goldsboro', was murdered at his house on last Friday night. He was shot. From the signs he must have been called out, (as he was in his night clothes) and shot. From the manner in which the shot took effect, he must have discovered the murderer, and was stooping forward at the time the gun fired. Mr. Harrison lived alone, and was a quiet and peaceable citizen; he was a very robust man, and was once employed by Mr. Eldridge Smith, of Raleigh, as a carpenter. He was undoubtedly murdered through malice, as his money was not taken out of the house. Mr. Harrison was a Virginian by birth, and about forty years of age.

No trace of the murderer has yet been discovered. This is the third man that has been murdered in this county during the last ten months.

THE PEOPLE MOVING.—There was a meeting of the citizens of Wayne, in Goldsboro', on Saturday, for the purpose of appointing delegates to a District Convention to designate delegates to the National Union Convention at Philadelphia. Wm. K. Lane, Esq., presided and J. B. Griswold was Secretary. The District Convention will assemble in Goldsboro, on the 25th inst.

A similar meeting was held in Wadesboro' on Tuesday last. Col. W. G. Smith presided. The Convention for the District will assemble at Lumberton, also on the 25th inst.

There is to be a meeting in Richmond county to-morrow, and one in Craven to-day.

We hope that our citizens will not forget the meeting in this City to-morrow.

Secretary Welles, of the Navy Department.

This gentleman has published a letter in favor of the proposed National Union Convention at Philadelphia, which bears the impress of an enlarged statesmanship. We regret that we have only space for the following admirable extract:

"The policy initiated by President Lincoln to restore national unity was adopted and carried forward by President Johnson; the States which had been in rebellion were, under this benign policy, resuming their legitimate functions; the people had laid down their arms, and those who had been in insurrection were returning to their allegiance; the Constitution had been vindicated and the Union was supposed to be restored, when a check was put upon the progress to national harmony and prosperity thus dawning upon the country. On the assembling of Congress all efforts towards unity and nationality became suddenly paralyzed; the measures of reconciliation which the President had, from the time he entered upon his duties, pursued with eminent success, were assailed, and their beneficent purpose, to a great extent, defeated; attempts were made to impose conditions precedent upon States before permitting them to exercise their constitutional rights; loyal Senators and Representatives from the States which had been in rebellion were refused admittance into Congress—the people were denied rightful constitutional representation—and eleven States were and are excluded from all participation in the Government. These proceedings, which conflict with the fundamental principles on which our whole governmental system is founded, are generating and consolidating sectional animosity, and, if long persisted in, must eventuate in permanent alienation. I rejoice, therefore, in a movement which has for its object the union in one bond of love of the people of our common country, and which invites to council and to political action the citizens of every State and Territory, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Lakes to the Gulf. The centralizing theory that the loyal and qualified Senators and Representatives from eleven States shall be excluded from Congress, and that those States and the people of those States shall not participate in the Government, is scarcely less repugnant than that of secession itself."

For the Sentinel.

A Voice from the Mountains.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—You will suffer me to say, that no paper in the State is more welcome to the hearts and homes of Western North Carolina, than the Sentinel. Its conservative tone, its adopted policy, its correctness of assertion, its truthfulness in delineation of character, all conspire to make it the paper of its readers in the State. We of the mountains are truly sorry that such are our pecuniary circumstances, that we cannot give the Sentinel a wider circulation among us. If a currency ever does come into existence so we can have money, you may look out for enlarged lists of subscribers.

Battle on, Messrs. Editors, and let political truth fly upon the wings of the Sentinel from the seaboard to the mountains, till the harping political demagogues, who hatched the egg of secession and then refused to shelter the brood, shall be ignored and discarded by every true man of the State. These human chameleons, whose exterior assumes the hue of every political scheme upon which they might ride into office, shall ere long receive their well-merited doom, in the discarding and ignoring of their claims by our entire Southern people. True merit cannot be long concealed; and the cloven foot "will out," despite the indefatigable efforts to conceal the hideous claws beneath. To the slanderous twang of some of these would-be office holders, North Carolina is at present indebted for her position.

When the grand assize takes place, woe to the men who, for the sake of self aggrandizement, rivetted the galling chains of tyranny more tightly upon the necks of our fellow citizens. That assize will come, and the reckoning will be terrible. BOB.

The Rumors of the Hour---The New Cabinet Assignments.

WASHINGTON, July 12.

The absorbing topic of the hour, and the one which occasions no little excitement, is an immediate change in the Cabinet. It is thought that at least by the end of the present month all the members of the present Cabinet, excepting Messrs. Seward, McCulloch, and Wells, will have resigned their position.

Gossip has been very busy in assigning successors to these retired and to be retired officers. Randall, Blair, and Browning have been named in connection with the office of Postmaster General. Mr. Stanberry, of Ohio, and Judge Hudges, of Indiana, both War Democrats, have had presented to them, according to the general rumor, the office of Attorney General, and Doolittle, it is said, is to succeed Mr. Harlan at the Interior Department. After this present storm we will have a little calm, and mature judgment may alter the present arrangements of the State.

TIMON.

GENERAL GRANT'S LAST ORDER.—We understand General Grant's last order to be just what the New York Tribune, in the following paragraph, represents it to be; and we must express our great regret that he should have issued such an order. It has a minatory tone about it which is unpleasant. That, however, is a small consideration. The reflection upon our courts is the objectionable feature. If a negro complains of an act on the part of a white man which our courts deem unworthy of notice, the military are authorized to arrest the white man and keep him safe until some court shall be found ready to listen to the negro's complaint. Of course much will depend upon the prudence and judgment of the military; and the y may perhaps never annoy any one under color of this order. But the reverse is certainly possible.—The Tribune says:

"General Grant's order this morning, directing a general arrest and detention by his subordinates of all persons in the late Confederate States who have committed, or shall hereafter commit, outrages upon loyal persons of any color which the local authorities do not and shall not punish, is the most important paper we have printed for months. If not paralyzed by higher authority it will prove a terror to evil-doers, and a much-needed shield to the persecuted loyalists of the South. We ardently trust that it may be upheld and enforced. It is equal to a fresh proclamation of martial law at the South, where no other law operates to protect those who have been faithful to the Union."

"If not paralyzed by higher authority," quoth the Tribune. There is some ground, then, for hope that the President may not sanction this order. At present it is in full force, and we have nothing to do but to submit.—Richmond Dispatch.

BUILDING OF THE ALEXANDRIA AND FREDERICKSBURG RAILROAD.—The contract between Messrs. Bodfish, Mills & Co., of New York, and the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railroad Company, was confirmed a day or two ago by the Board of directors, and it was decided that the work should commence on the 20th instant, and be completed in twelve months.

Our Monday Morning Despatches.

Late and Interesting from Europe---Important Successes of the Prussians.

NEW YORK, July 15, P. M.

The Steamer America has arrived, with Southampton dates to the 4th.

Cotton market quiet and unchanged. Sales for the two days previous to sailing 18,000 bales.

Flour flat and one shilling lower. Wheat three pence lower and dull. Corn declined six pence. Turpentine dull.

Consols 86¼@86⅝. 5-20's 65@65¼.

Lord Derby has formed the new Ministry.—He is Premier, D'Israeli Chancellor of the Treasury and leader in the House, and Lord Stanly Foreign Secretary.

The Prussians had carried Gitschin by storm after an obstinate defence, and a junction was effected between the army of the Elbe, under Prince Frederick Charles, and the army of Silesia, under the Crown Prince. 5,000 prisoners were captured at Gitschin.

The losses of the Austrians in the series of combats thus far are estimated at 20,000 killed and wounded and 15,000 prisoners. In the battles of the 28th. and 29th. the corps of the Austrian General Goblenz was nearly broken up.—It lost 24 guns and 8 flags.

It is officially denied that the Prussians lost 18 guns, as stated by a Vienna dispatch. The Prussians have not lost a gun.

The Austrians have retired to a strong position between Josephstadt and Koninsgratz.—Their retreat is said to have been precipitate.

The army of the Elbe had advanced beyond Gitschin. The King of Prussia visited the army on the 3rd.

The London Times says that, horrible as the carnage has been, it is but the prelude to the pitched battle now unavoidable, in which 250,000 men will be engaged on either side.

Victor Emanuel had sent a telegram to the King of Prussia, congratulating him on the victories of his army. The operations between the Italians and Austrians had been confined to skirmishing. The former were preparing for another onslaught and the soldiers were eager for the fray.

The revolt in Spain had been suppressed.

The Great Eastern, with the cable, passed the Isle of Wight on the 1st., en route for Valentia.

Resignation of Attorney Gen. Speed---Early Adjournment of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 15, P. M.

Attorney Gen. Speed has resigned. Judge Stansbury, of Ohio, or Mr. Browning, of Illinois, will be his successor.

The resignation of Harlan is an event daily to be expected.

The Republican caucus, on Saturday night, voted to adjourn on the 23rd., though it is believed the session will be prolonged until the 1st prox.

NEW YORK, July 16, 1866.

The Nova Scotia, from Liverpool, with dates to the 5th, has arrived.

Sales of cotton for the week 88,000 bales.—Market closed buoyant, with an advance of from ⅛ to ¼ pence, owing to the prospect of peace.

Breadstuffs very dull,—decline in all qualities.—Provision market inactive, but prices steady.

Consols 87¼ to 87¾. Bullion in Bank of England decreased £135,500. U. S. 5-20's 67¼ to 67¾.

A great battle occurred on the 3rd., near Ludowa, in which the Prussians gained a complete victory, capturing 14,000 prisoners.

There was terrible loss in both armies.

Austria sent in a flag of truce and has agreed to a cession of Venetia and accepted Napoleon as Mediator. Napoleon immediately communicated with the belligerents.

The Prussian and Italian reply to the proposition has not yet transpired. There are rumors that Prussia's reply is not favorable.

In London, however, peace is regarded as virtually concluded.

Seward and Speed on the Philadelphia Convention.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

Letters from Mr. Seward and Attorney Gen. Speed relative to the Philadelphia Convention are published. The former strongly sustains it and expresses the belief that the party, as there organized, can restore the Union.

Speed opposes and places his trust in the Republican party.

I have a valuable servant girl who had been a long time under treatment for consumption without receiving any benefit. Almost in her extremity, I was induced to try the Hepatic Pills. A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast infernal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored, and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicine very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspetic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

MAGGIEL'S CHILLS AND FEVER PILLS!

Maggiel's Fever and Ague Pills!

MAGGIEL'S FEVER AND AGUE

PILLS!!

THESE famous remedies, known throughout the great West or the United States for their extraordinary cures of

are now thoroughly introduced in the State of North Carolina and can be obtained of all enterprising, first class druggists.

They act as a tonic to all debilitated systems, taken in doses of

One Pill Three Times A Day,

before meals, and should be found in every family residing in miasmatic districts.

To any skeptic or one who does not believe in these marvellous preparations,

A Box Will be sent Free

If he is not cured with one and not more than two boxes, no charge will be made. The price of the Pills is high—say but as they are a perfect cure without trouble or inconvenience, the charge is reasonable enough.

Address J. MAGGIEL, M. D., 43 Fulton St., New York.

CAUTION.

Watch narrowly and guard yourselves vigilantly against counterfeits. I have just suppressed a notorious counterfeit in Wisconsin, after much trouble and expense. Purchase of only first class druggists and never of peddlers or traveling dealers.
